Foreword

The new curriculum for Ghana's primary schools, dubbed — curriculum for change and sustainable development — is standards-based. It is our demonstration of placing learning at the heart of every classroom and ensuring that every learner receives quality education. Provision of accessible quality education for all is non-negotiable, if we are to meet the human capital needs of our country required for accelerated sustainable national development. It is for this reason that the new curriculum sets out clearly the learning areas that need to be taught, how they should be taught and how they should be assessed. It provides a set of core competencies and standards that learners are to know, understand and demonstrate as they progress through the curriculum from one content standard to the other and from one phase to the next. The curriculum and its related teachers' manual promote the use of inclusive and gender responsive pedagogy within the context of learning-centred teaching methods so that every learner can participate in every learning process and enjoy learning. It encourages the use of information communication technologies (ICTs) for teaching and learning as teaching and learning material (TLM).

The curriculum for change and sustainable development has at its heart the acquisition of skills in the 4Rs of Reading, wRiting, aRithmetic and cReativity by all learners. It is expected that at any point of exit from a formal education, all learners should be equipped with these foundational skills for life, which are also prerequisites for Ghana becoming a learning nation. The graduates from the school system should become functional citizens in the 4Rs and lifelong learners. They should be digital literates, critical thinkers and problem solvers. The education they receive through the study of the learning areas in the curriculum should enable them to collaborate and communicate well with others and be innovative. The graduates from Ghana's schools should be leaders with high sense of national and global identity. The curriculum therefore provides a good opportunity in its design to develop individuals with the right skills and attitudes to lead the transformation of Ghana into an industrialised learning nation.

For this reason, the Ministry of Education expects that learners, as a result of the new knowledge, skills and values they have acquired through the new curriculum, will show a new sense of identity as creative, honest and responsible citizens. These are our core values that underpin the identification and selection of the learning areas for this curriculum. These core values serve as fundamental building blocks for developing into our learners the spirit of teamwork, respect, resilience and the commitment to achieving excellence. The Ministry endorses a quality learning experience as an entitlement for each of Ghana's school-going girl and boy; the curriculum for change and sustainable development has rightly focused on learning and learning progression. The Ministry has also endorsed accountability as a critical domain for effective workings of standards-based curriculum.

More importantly, the role of the teacher is to make this curriculum work for the intended purpose to inculcate in learners the core competencies and values and to make learning happen; improve learning outcomes. The support that teachers need is duly recognised and endorsed by my Ministry and support the implementation of the curriculum to include capacity development of all teachers in the new curriculum. This is because teachers matter in the development and delivery of the standards-based curriculum. Therefore, we will continue to support them on this journey that we have started together to put learning at the centre of what we do best; teach!

I thank all those who have contributed their time and expertise to the development of this curriculum for change and sustainable development for the primary schools of Ghana.

Dr. Matthew Opoku Prempeh (MP)
The Honourable Minister of Education

RATIONALE

The subject, Our World and Our People (OWOP), is a body of knowledge that responds to the need to have a dedicated curriculum provision in Ghana's schools with the aim of nurturing learners into honest, creative and responsible citizens. Learners being exposed to the learning areas within this curriculum, will be imbued with the positive attitudes, values and essential skills to address the contemporary social challenges of sanitation, climate change and environmental degradation, social media and technology misuse, unhealthy living, and non-compliance of civic responsibilities. OWOP curriculum provides space for learners to further explore their immediate world — homes and other worlds — the people and their interconnectedness. It provides opportunity for learners to develop their skills in the 4Rs of Reading, cReativity, wRiting and aRithmetic through thematic and creative approaches to learning. Learning progression is central to the OWOP curriculum. Therefore, OWOP intentionally creates space within the school curriculum for learners to build on their pre-school experience, thus enhancing learners' curiosity, critical thinking and problem-solving skills and competencies of personal development and leadership, communication and collaboration, creativity and innovation, cultural identity and digital literacy.

PHILOSOPHY

Our World and Our People curriculum will enable learners to develop knowledge, understanding, skills and competencies through a combination of social constructivism and social realism. Learners will demonstrate the competencies in making independent and healthy choices regarding personal development and well-being, develop the awareness of the people in their immediate environment and the wider community and society, take responsibility for the climate and the environment, appreciate the richness and the diversity of Ghana's culture and willingness to take advantage of social changes relating to globalisation, technological advancement and digital literacy. Learners are to be guided to maximise the opportunities offered by new technologies to express their beliefs and further enhance their moral perspectives and values.

PHILOSOPHY OF LEARNING OUR WORLD AND OUR PEOPLE

The philosophy of learning OWOP is based on the need to nurture citizens who are able to construct new knowledge and ideas, describe, analyse and evaluate environmental issues. Learners should critically trace physical patterns of human activities and communicate their views on how positive and negative practices could influence our immediate environment.

In essence, learners will understand that they relate directly to the environment in which they find themselves and from which useful lessons could be drawn. Through the learning of Our World and Our People learners will specifically acquire:

1. critical thinking and problem-solving skills to be able to compare and contrast, analyse, evaluate and apply geographical knowledge with little or no supervision
2. creative thinking skills to be able to reconstruct important information confidently
3. digital literacy skills to be able to use IT tools and resources efficiently for investigations and project works
4. effective communication skills to be able to share information at various levels of interaction
5. values to live as global citizens capable of learning about other peoples and cultures of the world.

PHILOSOPHY OF TEACHING OUR WORLD AND OUR PEOPLE

OWOP provides opportunity for teachers to adopt thematic and creative pedagogic approaches such as talk for learning, project-based learning, games, modelling, questioning, songs, storytelling and role-play necessary for achieving conducive learning environment and developing learners into creative, honest and responsible citizens. The OWOP classrooms should be learning-centred where the teacher, acting as a facilitator, introduces the topics for the day and assists learners to describe and analyse issues raised. In addition, the teacher helps learners to interact and share ideas among themselves based on their knowledge of Ghana and the world. The class will be encouraged to explore topics through enquiry-based questions. The OWOP curriculum is underpinned by five themes broken into specific learning areas. The teacher should emphasise these important areas in the day-to-day learning as they are aimed at promoting higher order thinking among learners.

GENERAL AIM

The curriculum, Our World and Our People, aims at producing a morally upright Ghanaian, who is responsible and capable of maintaining a healthy lifestyle and preserving their environment for sustainability.

SUBJECT SPECIFIC AIMS

The aims of the Our World and Our People curriculum are to enable learners to:

1. Develop awareness of their creator and the purpose of their very existence.
2. Appreciate themselves as unique individuals.
3. Exhibit sense of belonging to the family and community.
4. Demonstrate responsible citizenship.
5. Explore and show appreciation of the interaction between plants, animals and their physical environment;
6. Show love and care for the environment.
7. Develop attitudes for a healthy and peaceful lifestyle.
8. Appreciate use ICT as a tool for learning.

INSTRUCTIONAL EXPECTATIONS

Our World and Our People provides opportunity for teachers to:

- adopt thematic and creative pedagogic approaches such as talk for learning, project-based learning, games, modelling, questioning, songs, storytelling and role-play necessary for achieving learner-centred classrooms;
- nurture and develop learners into creative, honest and responsible citizens;
- provide opportunity for learners to develop their skills in the 4Rs of Readiness, cReativity, wRiting and aRithmetic through thematic and creative approaches to learning. Learning and learning progression are central to the OWOP curriculum;
- adopt collaborative approaches to lesson preparation within and across disciplines and grade levels to develop communities of OWOP learners;
- use multiple methods to systematically gather data about learners' understanding and ability in order to guide the teaching and learning of OWOP;
- put necessary arrangements in place to provide feedback to both learners and parents.

CORE COMPETENCIES

Through the pedagogy and learning areas envisaged for our OWOP as a body of knowledge in the school curriculum, it is expected that as is the case for other subjects in the school curriculum learners will demonstrate the following universal and core competencies:

Critical thinking and problem solving (CP)

Develop learners' cognitive and reasoning abilities to enable them to analyse issues and situations, leading to the resolution of problems. This skill enables learners to draw on and demonstrate what they have learned and from their own experiences analyse situations and choose the most appropriate out of a number of possible solutions. It requires that learners embrace the problem at hand, persevere and take responsibility for their own learning.

Creativity and Innovation (CI)

Learners acquire entrepreneurial skills through their ability to think about new ways of solving problems and developing technologies for addressing the problem at hand. It requires ingenuity of ideas, arts, technology and enterprise. Learners that possess this competency are also able to think independently and creatively.

Communication and collaboration (CC)

This competency aims to promote in learners the ability to make use of languages, symbols and texts to exchange information about themselves and their live experiences. Learners actively participate in sharing their ideas and engage in dialogue with others by listening to and learning from others in ways that respect and value the multiple perspectives of all persons involved.

Cultural identity and global citizenship (CG)

This competency aims to develop learners who put country and service as foremost through an understanding of what it means to be active citizens, by inculcating in them a strong sense of environmental, and economic awareness. Learners make use of the knowledge, skills, attitudes acquired to contribute meaningfully towards the socio-economic development of the country. They build skills to critically analyse cultural trends, identify and contribute to the global community.

Personal development and leadership (PL)

This means improving self-awareness, self-knowledge, skills and health; building and renewing self-esteem; identifying and developing talents, fulfilling dreams and aspirations and developing other people or meeting other people's needs. It involves recognising the importance of values such as honesty and empathy; seeking the well-being of others; distinguishing between right and wrong; fostering perseverance, resilience and self-confidence; exploring leadership, self-regulation and responsibility, and developing a love for lifelong learning.

Digital literacy (DL)

It involves developing learners to discover, acquire skills in, and communicate through ICT to support their learning and using digital media responsibly.

KNOWLEDGE UNDERSTANDING AND APPLICATION

Under this domain, learners acquire knowledge through learning experiences. They may also show understanding of concepts by comparing, summarising, re-writing etc. in their own words and constructing meaning from instruction. The learner may also apply the knowledge acquired in some new context. At a higher level of learning behaviour, the learner may be required to analyse an issue or a problem. At a much higher level, the learner may be required to synthesize knowledge by integrating a number of ideas to formulate a plan, solve a problem, compose a story, or a piece of music. Further, the learner may be required to evaluate, estimate and interpret a concept. At the last level, which is the highest, learners may be required to create, invent, compose, design and construct. These learning behaviours “knowledge”, “application” “understanding”, “analysis”, “synthesis”, ‘evaluation’ and ‘creation’, fall under the integral domain “Knowledge, Understanding and Application”.

In this curriculum, the learning indicators are stated with action verbs to show what the learner should know and be able to do. For example, ‘The learner will be able to describe something’. Being able to “describe” something after teaching and learning has been completed means that the learner has acquired “knowledge”. Being able to explain, summarise, and give examples etc. means that the learner has understood the concept taught.

Similarly, being able to develop, defend, etc. means that the learner can “apply” the knowledge acquired in some new context. You will note that each of the indicators in the curriculum contains an “action verb” that describes the behaviour the learner will be able to demonstrate after teaching and learning has taken place. “Knowledge, Understanding and application” is a domain that should be the prime focus of teaching and learning in schools. Teaching in most cases tends to stress knowledge acquisition to the detriment of other higher-level behaviours such as application, analysis etc.

Each action verb in any indicator indicates the underlying expected outcome. Read each indicator carefully to know the learning domain towards which you have to teach. The focus of the new form of teaching and learning, as indicated in this curriculum, is to move teaching and learning from the didactic acquisition of “knowledge” where there is memorisation, heavy reliance on formulae, remembering facts without critiquing them or relating them to real world – surface learning – to a new position called – deep learning. Learners are expected to deepen their knowledge through activities that involve critical thinking to generate creative ideas to solve real life problems in their school lives and later in their adult lives. This is the position where learning becomes beneficial to the learner.

The explanation and key words involved in each of the learning domains are as follows:

- Knowing: This is the ability to remember, recall, identify, define, describe, list, name, match, state principles, facts and concepts. Knowledge is the ability to remember or recall material already learnt and this constitutes the lowest level of learning.
- Understanding: The ability to explain, summarise, translate, rewrite, paraphrase, give examples, generalise, estimate or predict consequences based upon a trend. Understanding is generally the ability to grasp the meaning of some concept that may be verbal, pictorial or symbolic.

- Applying: This dimension is also referred to as “Use of Knowledge”. The ability to use knowledge or apply knowledge, apply rules, methods, principles, theories, etc. to situations that are new and unfamiliar. It also involves the ability to produce, solve, plan, demonstrate, discover among
- Analysing: This is the ability to break down material/information into its component parts; to differentiate, compare, distinguish, outline, separate, identify significant points etc.; ability to recognise unstated assumptions and logical fallacies; the ability to recognize inferences from facts etc.
- Synthesising: It is the ability to put parts or ideas together to form a new whole. It involves the ability to combine, compile, compose, devise, plan, revise, organize, create, generate new ideas and solutions.
- Evaluating: It is the ability to appraise, compare features of different things and make comments or judgment, contrast, criticize, justify, support, discuss, conclude, make recommendations etc. Evaluation refers to the ability to judge the worth or value of some material based on some criteria.
- Creating: It is the ability to use information or materials to plan, compose, produce, manufacture or construct other products.

From the foregoing, creating is the highest form of thinking and learning and is therefore a very important behaviour. This, unfortunately, is the area where most learners perform poorly. In order to get learners to develop critical thinking skills, beginning right from the lower primary level, it is advised that you do your best to help your learners to develop analytical skills as we have said already.

ATTITUDES

To be effective, competent and reflective citizens, who will be willing and capable of solving personal and societal problems, learners should be exposed to situations that challenge them to raise questions and attempt to solve problems. Learners therefore need to acquire positive attitudes, values and psychosocial skills that will enable them participate in debates and take a stand on issues affecting them and others. Our World and Our People curriculum thus focuses on the development of attitudes, values and skills. Our World Our People curriculum aims at helping learners to acquire the following:

- (i) Commitment: the determination to contribute to national development
- (ii) Tolerance: the willingness to respect the views of others
- (iii) Patriotism: the readiness to defend the nation.
- (iv) Flexibility in ideas: the willingness to change opinion in the face of more plausible evidence.
- (v) Respect for evidence: the willingness to collect and use data on one’s investigation and also have respect for data collected by others.
- (vi) Reflection: the habit of critically reviewing ways in which an investigation or observation has been carried out to see possible faults and other ways in which the investigation or observation can be improved upon.
- (vii) Comportment: the ability to conform to acceptable societal norms.
- (viii) Co-operation: the ability to work effectively with others.

- (ix) Responsibility: the ability to act independently and make decisions; morally accountable for one's action; capable of rational conduct.
- (x) Environmental Awareness: the ability to be conscious of one's physical and socio-economic surroundings.
- (xi) Respect for the Rule of Law: the ability to obey the rules and regulations of the land.

The teacher should ensure that learners cultivate the above attitudes and skills as a basis for living in the nation as effective citizens.

VALUES

At the heart of this curriculum is the belief in nurturing honest, creative and responsible citizens. As such, every part of this curriculum, including the related pedagogy should be consistent with the following set of values.

Respect: This includes respect for the nation of Ghana, its institutions, laws, the culture and respect among its citizens and friends of Ghana.

Diversity: Ghana is a multicultural society in which every citizen enjoys fundamental rights and responsibilities. Learners must be taught to respect the views of all persons and to see national diversity as a powerful force for nation development. The curriculum promotes social cohesion.

Equity: The socio-economic development across the country is uneven. Consequently, it is necessary to ensure an equitable distribution of resources based on the unique needs of learners and schools. Ghana's learners are from diverse backgrounds, which require the provision of equal opportunities to all, and that all strive to care for each other both personally and professionally.

Commitment to achieving excellence: Learners must be taught to appreciate the opportunities provided through the curriculum and persist in doing their best in whatever field of endeavour as global citizens. The curriculum encourages innovativeness through creative and critical thinking and the use of contemporary technology.

Teamwork/Collaboration: Learners are encouraged to become committed to team-oriented working and learning environments. This also means that learners should have an attitude of tolerance to be able to live peacefully with all persons.

Truth and Integrity: The curriculum aims to develop learners into individuals who will consistently tell the truth irrespective of the consequences. In addition, it aims to make them become morally upright with the attitude of doing the right thing even when no one is watching be true to themselves and be willing to live the values of honesty and compassion. Equally important, the ethos or culture of the work place, including integrity and perseverance must underpin the learning processes to allow learners to see and apply skills and competencies in the world of work.

PROCESS SKILLS

These are specific activities or tasks that indicate performance or proficiency in a given learning area. They are useful benchmarks for planning lessons, developing exemplars and are the core of inquiry-based learning.

Observing: This is the skill of using our senses to gather information about objects or events. This also includes the use of instruments to extend the range of our senses.

Classifying: This is the skill of grouping objects or events based on common characteristics.

Comparing: This is the skill of identifying the similarities and differences between two or more objects, concepts or processes.

Communicating/Reporting: This is the skill of transmitting, receiving and presenting information in concise, clear and accurate forms - verbal, written, pictorial, tabular or graphical.

Predicting: This is the skill of assessing the likelihood of an outcome based on prior knowledge of how things usually turn out.

Analysing: This is the skill of identifying the parts of objects, information or processes and the patterns and relationships between these parts.

Generating possibilities: This is the skill of exploring all the options, possibilities and alternatives beyond the obvious or preferred one.

Evaluating: This is the skill of assessing the reasonableness, accuracy and quality of information, processes or ideas. It is also the skill of assessing the quality and feasibility of objects

Designing: This is the skill of visualising and drawing new objects or gadgets from imagination

Interpreting: This is the skill of evaluating data in terms of its worth: good, bad, reliable, unreliable; making inferences and predictions from written or graphical data; extrapolating and deriving conclusions. Interpretation is also referred to as “Information Handling”.

Recording: This is the skill of drawing or making graphical representation boldly and clearly, well labelled and pertinent to the issue at hand.

Generalising: This is the skill of being able to use the conclusions arrived at in an activity to what could happen in similar situations

The action verbs provided under the various profile dimensions should help you to structure your teaching to achieve desired learning outcomes. Select from the action verbs provided for your teaching, for evaluation exercises and for test construction. Check the weights of the profile dimensions to ensure that you have given the required emphasis to each of the dimensions in your teaching and assessment.

ASSESSMENT AND FORMS OF ASSESSMENT

Assessment is a process of collecting and evaluating information about learners and using the information to make decisions to improve their learning.

In this curriculum, it is suggested that assessment is used to promote learning. Its purpose is to identify the strengths and weaknesses of learners to enable teachers ascertain their learner's response to instruction.

Assessment is both formative and summative. Formative assessment is viewed in terms of Assessment as learning and Assessment for learning.

Assessment as learning: Assessment as learning relates to engaging learners to reflect on the expectations of their learning. Information that learners provide forms the basis for refining teaching-learning strategies. Learners are assisted to play their roles and to take responsibility of their own learning to improve performance. Learners are assisted to set their own goals and monitor their progress.

Assessment for learning: It is an approach used to monitor learner's progress and achievement. This occurs throughout the learning process.

The teacher employs assessment for learning to seek and interpret evidence which serves as timely feedback to refine their teaching strategies and improve learners' performance. With assessment for learning learners become actively involved in the learning process and gain confidence in what they are expected to learn.

Assessment of learning: This is summative assessment. It evaluates the level learners have attained in the learning, what they know and can do over a period of time. The emphasis is to evaluate the learner's cumulative progress and achievement.

It must be emphasised that all forms of assessment should be based on the domains of learning. In developing assessment procedures, try to select indicators in such a way that you will be able to assess a representative sample from a given strand. Each indicator in the curriculum is considered a criterion to be achieved by the learners. When you develop assessment items or questions that are based on a representative sample of the indicators taught, the assessment is referred to as a "Criterion-Referenced Assessment". In many cases, a teacher cannot assess all the indicators taught in a term or year. The assessment procedure you use i.e. class assessments, homework, projects etc. must be developed in such a way that the various procedures complement one another to provide a representative sample of indicators taught over a period.

PEDAGOGICAL APPROACHES

These include the approaches, methods, strategies, appropriate relevant teaching and learning resources for ensuring that every learner benefits from teaching and learning process. The curriculum emphasises the:

1. creation of learning-centred classrooms through the use of creative approaches to ensure learner empowerment and independent learning;
2. positioning of inclusion and equity at the centre of quality teaching and learning;
3. use of differentiation and scaffolding as teaching and learning strategies for ensuring that no learner is left behind;
4. use of Information Communications Technology (ICT) as a pedagogical tool;
5. identification of subject specific instructional expectations needed for making learning in the subject relevant to learners;
6. integration of assessment as learning, for learning and of learning into the teaching and learning processes and as an accountability strategy; and

7. questioning techniques that promote deep learning.

LEARNING-CENTRED PEDAGOGY

The learner is at the centre of learning. At the heart of the national curriculum for change and sustainable development is the learning progression and improvement of learning outcomes for Ghana's young people with a focus on the 4Rs – Reading, wRiting, aRithmetic and cReativity. It is expected that at each curriculum phase, learners would be offered the essential learning experiences to progress seamlessly to the next phase. Where there are indications that a learner is not sufficiently ready for the next phase, a compensatory provision through differentiation should be provided to ensure that such a learner is ready to progress with his/her cohort. At the primary school, the progression phases are B1 to B2 and B1 to B6.

The Curriculum encourages the creation of a learning centred classroom with the opportunity for learners to engage in meaningful “hands-on” activities that bring home to the learner what they are learning in school and what they know from outside of school. The learning centred classroom is a place for the learners to discuss ideas through the inspiration of the teacher. The learners then become actively engaged in looking for answers, working in groups to solve problems. They also research for information, analyse and evaluate information. The aim of the learning-centred classroom is to enable learners to take ownership of their learning. It provides the opportunity for deep and profound learning to take place.

The teacher as a facilitator needs to create a learning environment that:

1. makes learners feel safe and accepted;
2. helps learners to interact with varied sources of information in a variety of ways;
3. helps learners to identify a problem suitable for investigation through project work;
4. connects the problem with the context of the learners' world so that it presents realistic opportunities for learning;
5. organises the subject matter around the problem, not the subject;
6. gives learners responsibility for defining their learning experience and planning to solve the problem;
7. encourages learners to collaborate in learning; and
8. expects all learners to demonstrate the results of their learning through a product or performance.

It is more productive for learners to find answers to their own questions rather than teachers providing the answers and their opinions in a learning-centred classroom.

INCLUSION

Inclusion is ensuring access and learning for all learners especially those disadvantaged. All learners are entitled to a broad and balanced curriculum in every school in Ghana. The daily learning activities to which learners are exposed should ensure that the learners' right to equal access and accessibility to quality education is met. The Curriculum suggests a variety of approaches that address learners' diversity and their special needs in the learning process. When these approaches are effectively used in lessons, they will contribute to the full development of the learning potential of every learner. Learners have individual needs and learning experiences and different levels of motivation for learning. Planning, delivery and reflection on daily learning experiences should take these differences into consideration. The curriculum therefore promotes:

1. learning that is linked to the learner's background and to their prior experiences, interests, potential and capacities
2. learning that is meaningful because it aligns with learners' ability (e.g. learning that is oriented towards developing general capabilities and solving the practical problems of everyday life); and
3. the active involvement of the learners in the selection and organisation of learning experiences, making them aware of their importance and also enabling them to assess their own learning outcomes.

DIFFERENTIATION AND SCAFFOLDING

Differentiation is a process by which differences (learning styles, interest and readiness to learn) between learners are accommodated so that all learners in a group have the best possible chance of learning. Differentiation could be by task, support and outcome. Differentiation as a way of ensuring each learner benefits adequately from the delivery of the curriculum can be achieved in the classroom through i) task ii) support from the Guidance and Counselling Unit and iii) learning outcomes.

Differentiation by task involves teachers setting different tasks for learners of different abilities. E.g. in sketching the plan and shape of their classroom some learners could be made to sketch with free hand while others would be made to trace the outline of the plan.

Differentiation by support involves the teacher giving the needed support and referring weak learners to the Guidance and Counselling Unit for academic support.

Differentiation by outcome involves the teacher allowing learners to respond at different levels. Weaker learners are allowed more time for complicated tasks.

Scaffolding in education refers to the use of variety of instructional techniques aimed at moving learners progressively towards stronger understanding and ultimately greater independence in the learning process.

It involves breaking up the learning task, experience or concepts into smaller parts and then providing learners with the support they need to learn each part. The process may require a teacher assigning an excerpt of a longer text to learners to read and engaging them to discuss the excerpt to improve comprehension. The teacher goes ahead to guide them through the key words/vocabulary to ensure learners have developed a thorough understanding of the text before engaging them to read the full text. Common scaffolding strategies available to the teacher are:

1. giving learners a simplified version of a lesson, assignment, or reading, and then gradually increases the complexity, difficulty, or sophistication over time;
2. describing or illustrating a concept, problem, or process in multiple ways to ensure understanding;
3. giving learners an exemplar or a model of an assignment, they will be asked to complete;
4. giving learners a vocabulary lesson before they read a difficult text;
5. describing the purpose of a learning activity clearly and the learning goals they are expected to achieve; and
6. describing explicitly how the new lesson builds on the knowledge and skills learners were taught in a previous lesson.

ORGANISATION OF THE CURRICULUM

There are five integrated learning areas organised under five themes. The learning areas are:

- Citizenship Education
- Geography
- Agricultural Science
- Computing

The thematic areas are organised under five strands:

- First Theme: All About Us
- Second Theme: All Around Us
- Third Theme: Our Beliefs and Values
- Fourth Theme: Our Nation Ghana
- Fifth Theme: My Global Community

CURRICULUM REFERENCE NUMBERS

The curriculum has been structured into four columns which are Strands, Sub-strands, Content standards and Indicators and exemplars. A unique annotation is used for numbering the learning indicators in the curriculum for the purpose of easy referencing. The notation is indicated in Table 2.

Table 1: Interpretation of Curriculum Reference Numbers

Example: OWOP: B1.2.3.4.1

ANNOTATION	MEANING / REPRESENTATION
B1.	Basic Year 1 / Class I/ Primary 1
2.	Strand Number
3.	Sub-Strand Number.
4.	Content Standard Number
1.	Learning / Performance Indicator Number

- Strands are the broad areas/sections of Our World and Our People curriculum to be studied.
- Sub-strands are larger groups of related indicators. Indicators from sub-strands may sometimes be closely related.

- Content Standards indicate what all learners should know, understand and be able to do.
- Indicators are clear statements of specific things learners should know and be able to do within each content standard.
- Exemplars refer to support and guidance, which clearly explain the expected outcomes of an indicator and suggest what teaching and learning activities could take to support the facilitators/teachers in the delivery of the curriculum.

FOREWORD

The new curriculum for Ghana's primary schools, dubbed — curriculum for change and sustainable development — is standards-based. It is our demonstration of placing learning at the heart of every classroom and ensuring that every learner receives quality education. Provision of accessible quality education for all is non-negotiable, if we are to meet the human capital needs of our country required for accelerated sustainable national development. It is for this reason that the new curriculum sets out clearly the learning areas that need to be taught, how they should be taught and how they should be assessed. It provides a set of core competencies and standards that learners are to know, understand and demonstrate as they progress through the curriculum from one content standard to the other and from one phase to the next. The curriculum and its related teachers' manual promote the use of inclusive and gender responsive pedagogy within the context of learning-centred teaching methods so that every learner can participate in every learning process and enjoy learning. It encourages the use of information communication technologies (ICTs) for teaching and learning as teaching and learning material (TLM).

The curriculum for change and sustainable development has at its heart the acquisition of skills in the 4Rs of Reading, wRiting, aRithmetic and cReativity by all learners. It is expected that at any point of exit from a formal education, all learners should be equipped with these foundational skills for life, which are also prerequisites for Ghana becoming a learning nation. The graduates from the school system should become functional citizens in the 4Rs and lifelong learners. They should be digital literates, critical thinkers and problem solvers. The education they receive through the study of the learning areas in the curriculum should enable them to collaborate and communicate well with others and be innovative. The graduates from Ghana's schools should be leaders with high sense of national and global identity. The curriculum therefore provides a good opportunity in its design to develop individuals with the right skills and attitudes to lead the transformation of Ghana into an industrialised learning nation.

For this reason, the Ministry of Education expects that learners, as a result of the new knowledge, skills and values they have acquired through the new curriculum, will show a new sense of identity as creative, honest and responsible citizens. These are our core values that underpin the identification and selection of the learning areas for this curriculum. These core values serve as fundamental building blocks for developing into our learners the spirit of teamwork, respect, resilience and the commitment to achieving excellence. The Ministry endorses a quality learning experience as an entitlement for each of Ghana's school-going girl and boy; the curriculum for change and sustainable development has rightly focused on learning and learning progression. The Ministry has also endorsed accountability as a critical domain for effective workings of standards-based curriculum.

More importantly, the role of the teacher is to make this curriculum work for the intended purpose to inculcate in learners the core competencies and values and to make learning happen; improve learning outcomes. The support that teachers need is duly recognised and endorsed by my Ministry and support the implementation of the curriculum to include capacity development of all teachers in the new curriculum. This is because teachers matter in the development and delivery of the standards-based curriculum. Therefore, we will continue to support them on this journey that we have started together to put learning at the centre of what we do best; teach!

I thank all those who have contributed their time and expertise to the development of this curriculum for change and sustainable development for the primary schools of Ghana.

Dr. Matthew Opoku Prempeh (MP)
The Honourable Minister of Education

RATIONALE

The subject, Our World and Our People (OWOP), is a body of knowledge that responds to the need to have a dedicated curriculum provision in Ghana's schools with the aim of nurturing learners into honest, creative and responsible citizens. Learners being exposed to the learning areas within this curriculum, will be imbued with the positive attitudes, values and essential skills to address the contemporary social challenges of sanitation, climate change and environmental degradation, social media and technology misuse, unhealthy living, and non-compliance of civic responsibilities. OWOP curriculum provides space for learners to further explore their immediate world — homes — and other worlds — the people and their interconnectedness. It provides opportunity for learners to develop their skills in the 4Rs of Reading, cReativity, wRiting and aRithmetic through thematic and creative approaches of learning. Learning and learning progression are central to the OWOP curriculum. Therefore, OWOP is intentionally introduced to create space within the school curriculum for learners to build on their pre-school experience and by doing so, enhance the learners' curiosity, critical thinking and problem-solving skills and competences of: personal development and leadership, communication and collaboration, creativity and innovation, cultural identity and digital literacy.

PHILOSOPHY

Our World and Our People curriculum will enable learners to develop knowledge, understanding, skills and competencies through a combination of social constructivism and social realism. Learners will demonstrate the competencies in making independent and healthy choices regarding personal development and well-being, develop the awareness of the people in their immediate environment and the wider community and society, take responsibility for the climate and the environment, appreciate the richness and the diversity of Ghana's culture and willingness to take advantage of social changes relating to globalisation, technological advancement and digital literacy. Learners are to be guided to maximise the opportunities offered by new technologies to express their beliefs and further enhance their moral perspectives and values.

PHILOSOPHY OF LEARNING OUR WORLD AND OUR PEOPLE

The philosophy of learning OWOP is based on the need to nurture citizens who are able to construct new knowledge and ideas, describe, analyse and evaluate environmental issues. Learners should critically trace physical patterns of human activities and communicate their views on how positive and negative practices could influence our immediate environment.

In essence, learners will understand that they relate directly to the environment in which they find themselves and from which useful lessons could be drawn. Through the learning of Our World and Our People learners will specifically acquire:

1. critical thinking and problem-solving skills to be able to compare and contrast, analyse, evaluate and apply geographical knowledge with little or no supervision
2. creative thinking skills to be able to reconstruct important information confidently
3. digital literacy skills to be able to use IT tools and resources efficiently for investigations and project works
4. effective communication skills to be able to share information at various levels of interaction
5. values to live as global citizens capable of learning about other peoples and cultures of the world.

PHILOSOPHY OF TEACHING OUR WORLD AND OUR PEOPLE

OWOP provides opportunity for teachers to adopt thematic and creative pedagogic approaches such as talk for learning, project-based learning, games, modelling, questioning, songs, storytelling and role-play necessary for achieving learning centred classrooms and developing learners into creative, honest and responsible citizens. The OWOP classrooms should be learning-centred where the teacher, acting as a facilitator, introduces the topics for the day and assists learners to describe and analyse issues raised. In addition, the teacher helps learners to interact and share ideas amongst themselves based on their knowledge of Ghana and the world. The class will be encouraged to explore topics through enquiry-based questions. The OWOP curriculum is underpinned by five themes broken into specific learning areas. The teacher should emphasise these important areas in the day-to-day learning as they are aimed at promoting higher order thinking among learners.

GENERAL AIM

The curriculum, Our World and Our People, aims at producing a morally upright Ghanaian, who is responsible and capable of maintaining a healthy lifestyle and preserving their environment for sustainability.

SUBJECT SPECIFIC AIMS

The aims of the Our World and Our People curriculum are to enable learners to:

1. Develop awareness of their creator and the purpose of their very existence;
2. Appreciate themselves as unique individuals.
3. Exhibit sense of belonging to the family and community
4. Demonstrate responsible citizenship.
5. explore and show appreciation of the interaction between, plants, animals and their physical environment;
6. show love and care for the environment.
7. develop attitudes for a healthy and peaceful lifestyle.
8. Appreciate Use ICT as a tool for learning

INSTRUCTIONAL EXPECTATIONS

Our World and Our People provides opportunity for teachers to:

- adopt thematic and creative pedagogic approaches such as talk for learning, project-based learning, games, modelling, questioning, songs, storytelling and role-play necessary for achieving learner-centred classrooms;
- nurture and develop learners into creative, honest and responsible citizens;
- provide opportunity for learners to develop their skills in the 4Rs of Reading, cReativity, wRiting and aRithmetic through thematic and creative approaches to learning. Learning and learning progression are central to the OWOP curriculum;
- adopt collaborative approaches to lesson preparation within and across disciplines and grade levels to develop communities of OWOP learners.
- use multiple methods to systematically gather data about learners' understanding and ability in order to guide the teaching and learning of OWOP.
- put necessary arrangements in place to provide feedback to both learners and parents.

CORE COMPETENCIES

Through the pedagogy and learning areas envisaged for our OWOP as a body of knowledge in the school curriculum, it is expected that [as is the case for other subjects in the school curriculum] through cross-curriculum strategies, learners will demonstrate the following universal and core competencies:

Critical thinking and Problem solving (CP)

Develop learners' cognitive and reasoning abilities to enable them to analyse issues and situations, leading to the resolution of problems. This skill enables learners to draw on and demonstrate what they have learned and from their own experiences to analyse situations and choose the most appropriate out of a number of possible solutions. It requires that learners embrace the problem at hand, persevere and take responsibility for their own learning.

Creativity and Innovation (CI)

Learners acquire entrepreneurial skills through their ability to think about new ways of solving problems and developing technologies for addressing the problem at hand. It requires ingenuity of ideas, arts, technology and enterprise. Learners that possess this competency are also able to think independently and creatively.

Communication and collaboration (CC)

This competency aims to promote in learners the ability to make use of languages, symbols and texts to exchange information about themselves and their live experiences. Learners actively participate in sharing their ideas and engage in dialogue with others by listening to and learning from others in ways that respect and value the multiple perspectives of all persons involved.

Cultural identity and Global Citizenship (CG)

This competency aims to develop learners who put country and service as foremost through an understanding of what it means to be active citizens, by inculcating in them a strong sense of environmental, and economic awareness. Learners make use of the knowledge, skills, attitudes acquired to contribute meaningfully towards the socio-economic development of the country. They build skills to critically analyse cultural trends, identify and contribute to the global community.

Personal Development and Leadership (PL)

This means improving self-awareness, self-knowledge, skills and health; building and renewing self-esteem; identifying and developing talents, fulfilling dreams and aspirations and developing other people or meeting other people's needs. It involves recognising the importance of values such as honesty and empathy; seeking the well-being of others; distinguishing between right and wrong; fostering perseverance, resilience and self-confidence; exploring leadership, self-regulation and responsibility, and developing a love for lifelong learning.

Digital Literacy (DL)

It involves developing learners to discover, acquire skills in, and communicate through ICT to support their learning and make use of digital media responsibly.

KNOWLEDGE UNDERSTANDING AND APPLICATION

Under this domain, learners acquire knowledge through learning experiences. They may also show understanding of concepts by comparing, summarising, re-writing etc. in their own words and constructing meaning from instruction. The learner may also apply the knowledge acquired in some new context. At a higher level of learning behaviour, the learner may be required to analyse an issue or a problem. At a much higher level, the learner may be required to synthesize knowledge by integrating a number of ideas to formulate a plan, solve a problem, compose a story, or a piece of music. Further, the learner may be required to evaluate, estimate and interpret a concept. At the last level, which is the highest, learners may be required to create, invent, compose, design and construct. These learning behaviours “knowledge”, “application” “understanding”, “analysis”, “synthesis”, ‘evaluation’ and ‘creation’, fall under the integral domain “Knowledge, Understanding and Application”.

In this curriculum, the learning indicators are stated with action verbs to show what the learner should know and be able to do. For example, ‘The learner will be able to describe something’. Being able to “describe” something after teaching and learning has been completed means that the learner has acquired “knowledge”. Being able to explain, summarise, and give examples etc. means that the learner has understood the concept taught.

Similarly, being able to develop, defend, etc. means that the learner can “apply” the knowledge acquired in some new context. You will note that each of the indicators in the curriculum contains an “action verb” that describes the behaviour the learner will be able to demonstrate after teaching and learning has taken place. “Knowledge, Understanding and application” is a domain that should be the prime focus of teaching and learning in schools. Teaching in most cases tends to stress knowledge acquisition to the detriment of other higher-level behaviours such as application, analysis etc.

Each action verb in any indicator indicates the underlying expected outcome. Read each indicator carefully to know the learning domain towards which you have to teach. The focus of the new form of teaching and learning, as indicated in this curriculum, is to move teaching and learning from the didactic acquisition of “knowledge” where there is memorisation, heavy reliance on formulae, remembering facts without critiquing them or relating them to real world – surface learning – to a new position called – deep learning. Learners are expected to deepen their knowledge through activities that involve critical thinking to generate creative ideas to solve real life problems in their school lives and later in their adult lives. This is the position where learning becomes beneficial to the learner.

The explanation and key words involved in each of the learning domains are as follows:

Knowing: This is the ability to remember, recall, identify, define, describe, list, name, match, state principles, facts and concepts. Knowledge is the ability to remember or recall material already learnt and this constitutes the lowest level of learning.

Understanding: The ability to explain, summarise, translate, rewrite, paraphrase, give examples, generalise, estimate or predict consequences based upon a trend. Understanding is generally the ability to grasp the meaning of some concept that may be verbal, pictorial or symbolic.

Applying: This dimension is also referred to as “Use of Knowledge”. The ability to use knowledge or apply knowledge, apply rules, methods, principles, theories, etc. to situations that are new and unfamiliar. It also involves the ability to produce, solve, plan, demonstrate, discover among

Analysing: This is the ability to break down material/information into its component parts; to differentiate, compare, distinguish, outline, separate, identify significant points etc.; ability to recognise unstated assumptions and logical fallacies; the ability to recognize inferences from facts etc.

Synthesising: It is the ability to put parts or ideas together to form a new whole. It involves the ability to combine, compile, compose, devise, plan, revise, organize, create, generate new ideas and solutions.

Evaluating: It is the ability to appraise, compare features of different things and make comments or judgment, contrast, criticize, justify, support, discuss, conclude, make recommendations etc. Evaluation refers to the ability to judge the worth or value of some material based on some criteria.

Creating: It is the ability to use information or materials to plan, compose, produce, manufacture or construct other products.

From the foregoing, creating is the highest form of thinking and learning and is therefore a very important behaviour. This, unfortunately, is the area where most learners perform poorly. In order to get learners to develop critical thinking skills, beginning right from the lower primary level, it is advised that you do your best to help your learners to develop analytical skills as we have said already.

ATTITUDES

To be effective, competent and reflective citizens, who will be willing and capable of solving personal and societal problems, learners should be exposed to situations that challenge them to raise questions and attempt to solve problems. Learners therefore need to acquire positive attitudes, values and psychosocial skills that will enable them participate in debates and take a stand on issues affecting them and others. Our World and Our People curriculum thus focuses on the development of attitudes, values and skills. Our World Our People curriculum aims at helping learners to acquire the following:

- (i) Commitment: the determination to contribute to national development.
- (ii) Tolerance: the willingness to respect the views of others.
- (iii) Patriotism: the readiness to defend the nation.
- (iv) Flexibility in ideas: the willingness to change opinion in the face of more plausible evidence.
- (v) Respect for evidence: the willingness to collect and use data on one's investigation, and also have respect for data collected by others.
- (vi) Reflection: the habit of critically reviewing ways in which an investigation or observation has been carried out to see possible faults and other ways in which the investigation or observation can be improved upon.
- (vii) Comportment: the ability to conform to acceptable societal norms.
- (viii) Co-operation: the ability to work effectively with others.

- (ix) Responsibility: the ability to act independently and make decisions; morally accountable for one's action; capable of rational conduct.
- (x) Environmental Awareness: the ability to be conscious of one's physical and socio-economic surroundings.
- (xi) Respect for the Rule of Law: the ability to obey the rules and regulations of the land.

The teacher should ensure that learners cultivate the above attitudes and skills as a basis for living in the nation as effective citizens.

VALUES

At the heart of this curriculum is the belief in nurturing honest, creative and responsible citizens. As such, every part of this curriculum, including the related pedagogy should be consistent with the following set of values.

Respect: This includes respect for the nation of Ghana, its institutions, laws, the culture and respect among its citizens and friends of Ghana.

Diversity: Ghana is a multicultural society in which every citizen enjoys fundamental rights and responsibilities. Learners must be taught to respect the views of all persons and to see national diversity as a powerful force for nation development. The curriculum promotes social cohesion.

Equity: The socio-economic development across the country is uneven. Consequently, it is necessary to ensure an equitable distribution of resources based on the unique needs of learners and schools. Ghana's learners are from diverse backgrounds, which require the provision of equal opportunities to all, and that all strive to care for each other both personally and professionally.

Commitment to achieving excellence: Learners must be taught to appreciate the opportunities provided through the curriculum and persist in doing their best in whatever field of endeavour as global citizens. The curriculum encourages innovativeness through creative and critical thinking and the use of contemporary technology.

Teamwork/Collaboration: Learners are encouraged to become committed to team-oriented working and learning environments. This also means that learners should have an attitude of tolerance to be able to live peacefully with all persons.

Truth and Integrity: The curriculum aims to develop learners into individuals who will consistently tell the truth irrespective of the consequences. In addition, it aims to make them become morally upright with the attitude of doing the right thing even when no one is watching be true to themselves and be willing to live the values of honesty and compassion. Equally important, the ethos or culture of the work place, including integrity and perseverance must underpin the learning processes to allow learners to see and apply skills and competencies in the world of work.

PROCESS SKILLS

These are specific activities or tasks that indicate performance or proficiency in a given learning area. They are useful benchmarks for planning lessons, developing exemplars and are the core of inquiry-based learning.

Observing: This is the skill of using our senses to gather information about objects or events. This also includes the use of instruments to extend the range of our senses.

Classifying: This is the skill of grouping objects or events based on common characteristics.

Comparing: This is the skill of identifying the similarities and differences between two or more objects, concepts or processes.

Communicating/Reporting: This is the skill of transmitting, receiving and presenting information in concise, clear and accurate forms - verbal, written, pictorial, tabular or graphical.

Predicting: This is the skill of assessing the likelihood of an outcome based on prior knowledge of how things usually turn out.

Analysing: This is the skill of identifying the parts of objects, information or processes and the patterns and relationships between these parts.

Generating possibilities: This is the skill of exploring all the options, possibilities and alternatives beyond the obvious or preferred one.

Evaluating: This is the skill of assessing the reasonableness, accuracy and quality of information, processes or ideas. It is also the skill of assessing the quality and feasibility of objects

Designing: This is the skill of visualising and drawing new objects or gadgets from imagination

Interpreting: This is the skill of evaluating data in terms of its worth: good, bad, reliable, unreliable; making inferences and predictions from written or graphical data; extrapolating and deriving conclusions. Interpretation is also referred to as “Information Handling”.

Recording: This is the skill of drawing or making graphical representation boldly and clearly, well labelled and pertinent to the issue at hand.

Generalising: This is the skill of being able to use the conclusions arrived at in an activity to what could happen in similar situations

The action verbs provided under the various profile dimensions should help you to structure your teaching to achieve desired learning outcomes. Select from the action verbs provided for your teaching, for evaluation exercises and for test construction. Check the weights of the profile dimensions to ensure that you have given the required emphasis to each of the dimensions in your teaching and assessment.

ASSESSMENT AND FORMS OF ASSESSMENT

Assessment is a process of collecting and evaluating information about learners and using the information to make decisions to improve their learning.

In this curriculum, it is suggested that assessment is used to promote learning. Its purpose is to identify the strengths and weaknesses of learners to enable teachers ascertain their learner's response to instruction.

Assessment is both formative and summative. Formative assessment is viewed in terms of Assessment as learning and Assessment for learning.

Assessment as learning: Assessment as learning relates to engaging learners to reflect on the expectations of their learning. Information that learners provide forms the basis for refining teaching-learning strategies. Learners are assisted to play their roles and to take responsibility of their own learning to improve performance. Learners are assisted to set their own goals and monitor their progress.

Assessment for learning: It is an approach used to monitor learner's progress and achievement. This occurs throughout the learning process.

The teacher employs assessment for learning to seek and interpret evidence which serves as timely feedback to refine their teaching strategies and improve learners' performance. With assessment for learning learners become actively involved in the learning process and gain confidence in what they are expected to learn.

Assessment of learning: This is summative assessment. It evaluates the level learners have attained in the learning, what they know and can do over a period of time. The emphasis is to evaluate the learner's cumulative progress and achievement.

It must be emphasised that all forms of assessment should be based on the domains of learning. In developing assessment procedures, try to select indicators in such a way that you will be able to assess a representative sample from a given strand. Each indicator in the curriculum is considered a criterion to be achieved by the learners. When you develop assessment items or questions that are based on a representative sample of the indicators taught, the assessment is referred to as a "Criterion-Referenced Assessment". In many cases, a teacher cannot assess all the indicators taught in a term or year. The assessment procedure you use i.e. class assessments, homework, projects etc. must be developed in such a way that the various procedures complement one another to provide a representative sample of indicators taught over a period.

PEDAGOGICAL APPROACHES

These include the approaches, methods, strategies, appropriate relevant teaching and learning resources for ensuring that every learner benefits from teaching and learning process. The curriculum emphasises the:

1. creation of learning-centred classrooms through the use of creative approaches to ensure learner empowerment and independent learning;
2. positioning of inclusion and equity at the centre of quality teaching and learning;
3. use of differentiation and scaffolding as teaching and learning strategies for ensuring that no learner is left behind;
4. use of Information Communications Technology (ICT) as a pedagogical tool;
5. identification of subject specific instructional expectations needed for making learning in the subject relevant to learners;

6. integration of assessment as learning, for learning and of learning into the teaching and learning processes and as an accountability strategy; and
7. questioning techniques that promote deep learning.

LEARNING-CENTRED PEDAGOGY

The learner is at the centre of learning. At the heart of the national curriculum for change and sustainable development is the learning progression and improvement of learning outcomes for Ghana's young people with a focus on the 4Rs – Reading, wRiting, aRithmetic and cReativity. It is expected that at each curriculum phase, learners would be offered the essential learning experiences to progress seamlessly to the next phase. Where there are indications that a learner is not sufficiently ready for the next phase, a compensatory provision through differentiation should be provided to ensure that such a learner is ready to progress with his/her cohort. At the primary school, the progression phases are B1 to B2 and B1 to B6.

The Curriculum encourages the creation of a learning centred classroom with the opportunity for learners to engage in meaningful “hands-on” activities that bring home to the learner what they are learning in school and what they know from outside of school. The learning centred classroom is a place for the learners to discuss ideas through the inspiration of the teacher. The learners then become actively engaged in looking for answers, working in groups to solve problems. They also research for information, analyse and evaluate information. The aim of the learning-centred classroom is to enable learners to take ownership of their learning. It provides the opportunity for deep and profound learning to take place.

The teacher as a facilitator needs to create a learning environment that:

1. makes learners feel safe and accepted;
2. helps learners to interact with varied sources of information in a variety of ways;
3. helps learners to identify a problem suitable for investigation through project work;
4. connects the problem with the context of the learners' world so that it presents realistic opportunities for learning;
5. organises the subject matter around the problem, not the subject;
6. gives learners responsibility for defining their learning experience and planning to solve the problem;
7. encourages learners to collaborate in learning; and
8. expects all learners to demonstrate the results of their learning through a product or performance.

It is more productive for learners to find answers to their own questions rather than teachers providing the answers and their opinions in a learning-centred classroom.

INCLUSION

Inclusion is ensuring access and learning for all learners especially those disadvantaged. All learners are entitled to a broad and balanced curriculum in every school in Ghana. The daily learning activities to which learners are exposed should ensure that the learners' right to equal access and accessibility to quality education is met. The Curriculum suggests a variety of approaches that address learners' diversity and their special needs in the learning process. When these approaches are effectively used in lessons, they will contribute to the full development of the learning potential of every learner. Learners have individual needs and learning experiences and different levels of motivation for learning. Planning, delivery and reflection on daily learning experiences should take these differences into consideration. The curriculum therefore promotes:

1. learning that is linked to the learner's background and to their prior experiences, interests, potential and capacities
2. learning that is meaningful because it aligns with learners' ability (e.g. learning that is oriented towards developing general capabilities and solving the practical problems of everyday life); and
3. the active involvement of the learners in the selection and organisation of learning experiences, making them aware of their importance and also enabling them to assess their own learning outcomes.

DIFFERENTIATION AND SCAFFOLDING

Differentiation is a process by which differences (learning styles, interest and readiness to learn) between learners are accommodated so that all learners in a group have the best possible chance of learning. Differentiation could be by task, support and outcome. Differentiation as a way of ensuring each learner benefits adequately from the delivery of the curriculum can be achieved in the classroom through i) task ii) support from the Guidance and Counselling Unit and iii) learning outcomes.

Differentiation by task involves teachers setting different tasks for learners of different abilities. E.g. in sketching the plan and shape of their classroom some learners could be made to sketch with free hand while others would be made to trace the outline of the plan.

Differentiation by support involves the teacher giving the needed support and referring weak learners to the Guidance and Counselling Unit for academic support.

Differentiation by outcome involves the teacher allowing learners to respond at different levels. Weaker learners are allowed more time for complicated tasks.

Scaffolding in education refers to the use of variety of instructional techniques aimed at moving learners progressively towards stronger understanding and ultimately greater independence in the learning process.

It involves breaking up the learning task, experience or concepts into smaller parts and then providing learners with the support they need to learn each part. The process may require a teacher assigning an excerpt of a longer text to learners to read and engaging them to discuss the excerpt to improve comprehension. The teacher goes ahead to guide them through the key words/vocabulary to ensure learners have developed a thorough understanding of the text before engaging them to read the full text. Common scaffolding strategies available to the teacher are:

1. giving learners a simplified version of a lesson, assignment, or reading, and then gradually increases the complexity, difficulty, or sophistication over time;
2. describing or illustrating a concept, problem, or process in multiple ways to ensure understanding;

3. giving learners an exemplar or a model of an assignment, they will be asked to complete;
4. giving learners a vocabulary lesson before they read a difficult text;
5. describing the purpose of a learning activity clearly and the learning goals they are expected to achieve; and
6. describing explicitly how the new lesson builds on the knowledge and skills learners were taught in a previous lesson.

ORGANISATION OF THE CURRICULUM

There are five integrated learning areas organised under five themes. The learning areas are:

- Citizenship Education
- Geography
- Agricultural Science

The thematic areas are organised under five strands:

- First Theme: All About Us
- Second Theme: All Around Us
- Third Theme: Our Beliefs and Values
- Fourth Theme: Our Nation Ghana
- Fifth Theme: My Global Community

CURRICULUM REFERENCE NUMBERS

The curriculum has been structured into four columns which are Strands, Sub-strands, Content standards and Indicators and exemplars. A unique annotation is used for numbering the learning indicators in the curriculum for the purpose of easy referencing. The notation is indicated in Table 2.

Table 1: Interpretation of Curriculum Reference Numbers

Example: OWOP: B1.2.3.4.1

ANNOTATION	MEANING / REPRESENTATION
B1.	Basic Year I / Class I/ Primary I
2.	Strand Number

4.	Content Standard Number
1.	Learning / Performance Indicator Number

- Strands are the broad areas/sections of Our World and Our People curriculum to be studied.
- Sub-strands are larger groups of related indicators. Indicators from sub-strands may sometimes be closely related.
- Content Standards indicate what all learners should know, understand and be able to do.
- Indicators are clear statements of specific things learners should know and be able to do within each content standard.
- Exemplars refer to support and guidance, which clearly explain the expected outcomes of an indicator and suggest what teaching and learning activities could take to support the facilitators/teachers in the delivery of the curriculum.

BASIC 4

BASIC 4

Strand I: ALL ABOUT US
Sub-strand I: Nature of God

Content Standard	Indicator	Exemplars	Core Competencies and Subject Specific Practices
B4.1.1.1. Demonstrate understanding of the Nature of God as the Creator of human beings	B4.1.1.1.1. Explain how special each individual is	In groups, learners discuss how each person is created as unique and different from one another: some are short, tall, dull, intelligent, fair in complexion, black in complexion, etc. Learners demonstrate the uniqueness of each individual e.g. My name is Esi, I am black and beautiful, there is no one like me, I'm special for who I am, how I look and where I live. I am a Ghanaian. I am proud to be a Ghanaian. Use pictures/video clips to demonstrate the effects of destroying our bodies. Put learners into groups according to: height, colour, mass, intelligence, etc. Learners write how different they are from one another. Learners in groups discuss how they can use their God-given unique qualities: Serve God and human beings, protect and preserve the environment, live together in harmony, contribute to development. Learners talk about their aspiration and how they want to achieve that.	Communication and Collaboration, Cultural Identity and Global Citizenship Respect, Responsibility, stewardship, Love

Sub-strand 2: Myself

Content Standard	Indicator	Exemplars	Core Competencies and Subject Specific Practices
B4.1.2.1. Demonstrate understanding of self-awareness and living peacefully with others	B4.1.2.1.1. Identify one's strengths and weaknesses and how to promote interpersonal relations	Learners talk about their abilities and weaknesses, e.g. of strengths: friendliness, kindness, confidence: e.g. of weaknesses: selfishness, shyness, timidity, lack of confidence. Learners talk about ways of initiating good interpersonal relationships, e.g. greetings, respect, tolerance, caring, showing appreciation, etc. Learners talk about ways of improving their abilities and overcoming their weaknesses e.g. education, constant, practice, training, counseling. Learners use their assertive skills to express their feelings about what disturbs/hurts the e.g. being polite to people, being respectful, being firm.	Communication and Collaboration Critical Thinking, Cultural Identity Global Citizenship Responsibility, Love, Sharing Commitment, Obedience, Respect, Humility, Honesty Trust
	B4.1.2.1.2. Mention reasons to live in harmony with one another as a responsible citizen	Learners mention ways of living in harmony with one another, e. g. to promote peace and unity, law and order, growth and development, etc. In a think-pair-share session, learners talk about attitudes and behaviours that promote harmonious living at home, school, community, etc.	Personal Development and Leadership Communication and Collaboration Cultural Identity and Global Citizenship Critical thinking and Problem solving Trust, Commitment, Loyalty Respect, Obedience Humility, Unity Responsibility, Togetherness

Sub-strand 3: My Family and the Community

Content Standard	Indicator	Exemplars	Core Competencies and Subject Specific Practices
B4.1.3.1. Demonstrate understanding of family relationships	B4.1.3.1.1. Explain and appreciate the importance of being a committed member of the family	Learners talk about family members e.g. mother, father, siblings, uncles, aunties, grandparents. Learners talk about behaviours expected of committed members of the family e.g. obedience, respect, dedication e.g. taking part in family activities, obedience to elders of the family, respect for family members, accepting responsibility (performing assigned duties), taking initiatives, helping needy relatives. Learners talk about the importance of being a committed family member e.g. to promote unity, to gain respect, to be considered a trustworthy person. Learners draw and colour a family member e.g. father, mother.	Personal Development and Leadership Communication and Collaboration, Cultural Identity and Global Citizenship Commitment, Loyalty, Respect Obedience, Humility, Unity Responsibility, Togetherness Tolerance
B4.1.3.2. Recognise and appreciate people in the community	B4.1.3.2.1. Identify people in the community	Learners talk about various people in the community e.g. Parents, Teachers, Pastors, Imams, Chiefs, Queens, Police, Traders, Drivers. Learners role play to bring out the characteristics of different people in the community, e.g. strangers, drug addicts, drunkards and people with questionable character and talk about people who are likely to help or harm people. Learners draw and colour different people in the community. Learners talk about how they can become good people in the community.	Personal Development and Leadership Critical thinking and problem solving Honesty Trustworthiness

Sub-Strand 4: Home and School

Content Standard	Indicator	Exemplars	Core Competencies and Subject Specific Practices
B4.1.4.1. Demonstrate understanding of work as a civic responsibility	B4.1.4.1. 1. Explain importance of education and work as a responsible citizen	Learners in groups talk about the importance of work at home, school and the community Learners talk about how education is linked to work e.g. Education opens avenues to get work to do Education opens minds to set up work Education provides skills to manage work Learners compose a song on the importance of education Learners tell stories of individuals who have been able to create their own jobs	Personal Development and Leadership Communication and Collaboration Cultural Identity and Global Citizenship Commitment, Loyalty, Respect Obedience, Humility, Unity Responsibility, Togetherness Tolerance

STRAND 2: ALL AROUND US
Sub-Strand 1: The Environment and the Weather

Content Standard	Indicator	Exemplars	Core Competencies and Subject Specific Practices
B4.2.1.1 Demonstrate knowledge of environmental safety	B4.2.1.1 .1. Explain ways of making the environment safe	Learners talk about ways of ensuring safety in the environment e.g. keeping the environment clean, planting trees, good sanitation, good roads, safe drinking water, reduce usage of chemicals, reduce burning of things. Show pictures and video clips on human activities that do not make the environment safe: illegal mining (galamsey), indiscriminate cutting down of trees (deforestation), pollution of the air and water bodies, throwing plastic bags around. Learners in groups play games or engage in activities/projects that teach ways of ensuring safety in the community e.g. preventing flooding, preventing drowning, preventing fire outbreaks by putting off electrical gadget after use, make fire extinguisher available in homes, preventing road accidents, keeping the home and classroom or school clean, planting trees, recycling waste paper and plastics.	Personal Development and Leadership Communication and Collaboration Cultural Identity and Global Citizenship Commitment, Loyalty, Respect Obedience, Humility, Unity Responsibility, Togetherness Tolerance

Content Stand	Indicator	Exemplars	Core Competencies and Subject Specific Practices
B4.2.1.2. Demonstrate knowledge of reducing environmental pollution	B4.2.1.2 .1. Prevent pollution on the environment by performing simple activities,	Learners discuss human activities which pollute the land, water and air such as bush burning, smoke from vehicles and factories and dust from quarry and construction sites. Learners in groups talk about the effects of pollution on the environment e.g. i. Heat ii. Health hazards iii. Depletion of natural habitats for animals iv. Flooding <pre> graph TD Pollution --> Land Pollution --> Water Pollution --> Air </pre> Learners play games or do activities that teach the importance of reducing air, water and land pollution. B4.2.1.3. Recognise the sun as an important body in our global environment.	B4.2.1.3 .1. Describe the sun as the source of light and heat to the earth	Learners discuss the sun as the ultimate source of energy and life on earth and learn more facts about the sun: it is a star, it is at the centre of the solar system, the earth moves round the sun, the sun is 149.6 kilometers from the earth, it is over one million times bigger than the earth. Learners conduct the above experiment or engage in other activities to show how we get light and heat from the sun. Learners talk about some of the ways they can protect themselves against sun rays: use umbrella, do not wear heavy clothes, do not wear black and red cloths, wear white, cream, sea blue clothes on sunny days to reflect the heat. Learners reflect on human activities that can lead to increase in the sun's heat on the earth.	Critical Thinking and Problem-Solving Presentation Observation Collaboration Demonstration Applying

Sub-Strand 2: Plants and Animals

Content Standard	Indicator	Exemplars	Core Competences and Subject Specific Practices
B4.2.2.1. Demonstrate understanding of how living and non-living things in the environment are related.	B4.2.2.1.1. Explore the relationship between living and non-living things in the environment	Learners in groups, discuss the relationship between the following living and non-living things: i. Plants and soil ii. Plants and sunlight iii. Plants and water iv. Humans and air v. Humans and water vi. Humans and land	Communication Critical Thinking and Collaboration
	B4.2.2.1.2. Recognise the need to preserve living and non-living things in the environment as a responsible	Through group work guide learners to play games and use specific examples to talk about the importance of living and non-living things to humans. e.g. Plants provide oxygen, food, medicine, fuel wood, clothes. Animals provide food, medicine, manure, clothes. Water is used for drinking, washing, cooking, river transport, manufacturing of industrial goods.

Sub-Strand 3: Map Making and Land Marks

Content Standard	Indicator	Exemplars	Core Competencies and Subject Specific Practices
B4.2.3.1. Demonstrate knowledge of the physical features of the school	B4.2.3.1.1. Map the school environment	Learners identify the key features of the school environment e.g. classroom blocks, canteen, library, playground, computer laboratory Learners draw a sketch map of the school and indicate key features on it	Creativity and innovation Collaboration Critical thinking and problem solving Applying

Sub-Strand 4: Population and Settlement

Content Standard	Indicator	Exemplars	Core Competencies and Subject Specific Practices
B4.2.4.1. Demonstrate understanding settlements patterns in Ghana	B4.2.4.1.1. Describe the nature of settlements in Ghana.	Learners discuss the importance of settlements e.g. people live with other people, we do not live in vacuum, for protection, for pooling resources together etc. Learners discuss and write about features that they will consider in choosing a good settlement that would make life easier and comfortable such areas free of floods, access to local raw materials, local water supply for drinking and washing and access to roads and transportation. Learners engage in activities that teach them to help keep their settlements safe, peaceful and clean.	Creativity and innovation Collaboration Critical thinking and problem solving Applying

STRAND 3: OUR BELIEFS AND VALUES
Sub-Strand 1: Worship

Content Standard	Indicator	Exemplars	Core Competencies and Subject Specific Practices
B4.3.1.1. Recognise the importance of prayer, worship and other acts of worship	B4.3.1.1.1. Show obedience and respect to a supreme being, through prayer and worship	Learners talk about why we worship God: to draw closer to God, to communicate with God, to show obedience to God, etc. Learners talk about the forms of worship in the three main religious groups in Ghana: Christianity, Islam and Traditional: praying, singing, pouring libation, reading scriptures, etc. Learners engage in activities: role play, play games, recite prayers, read scriptures, watch videos, or look at pictures/videos – that teach ways of worship to show respect and obedience to God among the three major religious groups. Learners draw and model a worship scene.	Communication and Collaboration Personal Development and Leadership Creativity and Innovation and Global Citizenship Digital Literacy Faithfulness, Obedience Respect, Commitment, Humility, Unity, Cultural Identity, Gratitude

Sub-Strand 2: Festivals

Content Standard	Indicator	Exemplars	Core Competencies and Subject Specific Practices
B4.3.2.1. Explore the Significance of cultural practices, traditions and celebrations in Ghana	B4.3.2.1.1. Identify celebrations, positive cultural practices and traditions of different cultures in Ghana	Learners talk about celebrations and traditions of different cultures in the community: Christmas, Easter, Eid-UI-Fitr, Eid-UI-Adha, Odwira, Aboakyir, etc. Learners use pictures, charts or video clips to demonstrate activities of celebrations and traditions of different cultures. Learners create stories, songs, poems, that teach them about the importance of celebrations and traditions different cultures of where they come from. e.g. Christmas teach us about the birth of Christ. Ohum festival teach us about the time for harvesting yam. Some celebrations remind us where our ancestors came from: Hogbetsotso. Learners prepare traditional foods such as kenkey and fried fish, banku and okro stew, fufu and palm soup, tuo-zafi or sew traditional clothing for celebration for display or reflect and write about traditions their parents have passed down to them.	Communication and Collaboration, Personal Development and Leadership Creativity and Innovation Global Citizenship Digital literacy Faithfulness, Obedience Respect, Commitment, Humility, Unity, Cultural Identity, Gratitude

Sub-Strand 3: Basic Human Rights

Content Standard	Indicator	Exemplars	Core Competencies and Subject Specific Practices
B4.3.3.1. Demonstrate understanding of human rights a citizen	B4.3.3.1.1. Explain fundamental human rights of a child	Learners explain human rights e.g. human rights are rights that acknowledge the dignity and worth of an individual and ensure that equal right and opportunities are available to all without discrimination. Learners discuss their rights under equality e.g. right to life, right to family, right to protection. Learners compose songs and rhymes on fundamental human rights in Ghana. Learners develop posters describing fundamental human rights of a child using pictures and internet.
